

They told you that philosophy majors don't get jobs.

They told you that you should practice asking "do you want fries with that?"

They told you that philosophy wasn't about real-world skills.

They lied.

See the statistics for yourself, at:

www.philosophyisagreatmajor.com

